HARVARD WON THE GAME

CONTEST BETWEEN CRIMSON AND BLUE RESULTED IN VICTORY FOR FORMER.

THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND ATTENDED

Score Was 4 to 0 and Was Made in the First Half—Harvard Team Best Ever Organized—Chicago Beat Wisconsin.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 21.—In the presence of one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a contest, the Harvard colleg football eleven defeated the Yale eleven at New Haven today, the final result being 4 to 0, the only score being made on a field goal in the first half.

Thirty-five thousand football enthusiasts, rooters for the two aggregations, assembled on the grounds to cheer their respective teams to victory and for an hour before the opening of the gates more than two hours before the play was called. 5,000 eager spectators stood outside the gates waiting for admission.

Harvard made forty one rushes for a total of 182 yards' gain, while Yale's nineteen rushes netted a gain of only fifty-six yards.

The result of the game in football circles in this "neck of the woods" is not a surprise, as enthusiasts of the game anticipated a victory for Harvard.

Harvard's team this year is slated as the best ever organized since the establishment of the school. Every player was thoroughly experienced in the tricks of the game, was cautious and alert to seek every opportunity that offered a point for the team, and their ability to gain yards on rushes added materially to the result of the contest.

Chicago University Wins Also.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21. — After catching the ball on the opposing team's 10-yard line, Steffen, of the Chicago University football team, made a 100-yard run, thus winning the championship of the Western Football association and administering a telling defeat to the University of Wisconsin, on the gridiron at Madison today.

The final score was 6 to 0.

A PRINT PAPER FAMINE

Predicted Unless We Have Abnormal Weather Conditions.

Milwaukee, Nov. 21.—A special from Appleton says that unless abnormal weather conditions prevail throughout practically all of the United States between now and the first of the year this country, within six weeks, will face a print paper famine, say paper manufacturers.

Six weeks ago the manufacturers declared the lack of rain would make wood pulp worth its weight in gold. They now say it will soon be unobtainable even at that price.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Is Said to Be Well in Hand in the State of New York.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in this state is well in hand, according to Commissioner Pearson, of the state department of agriculture, who returned today from Buffalo.

No new outbreaks were reported yesterday, said the commissioner.

COLLIDED WITH A POLE

In Dodging Another Car, and One Was Killed and One Hurt.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 21.—D. E. Rose, a mechanic, was killed, and John Juhaz, the driver, was badly injured by a collision of an automobile with a telegraph pole while training here today for next Wednesday's small car race. They were dodging another car.

WERE AGAIN DEFEATED

Sedalia High School Team Lost Game to Normal's Second Team.

With another defeat added to their list, the members of the Sedalia High school football eleven, captained by Vern McNeil, returned last night from Warrensburg, where during the afternoon they contested honors and gracefully accepted defeat at the hands of the second team of the State Normal by a score of 35 to 5.

It is the sames old story—inability to play the game. Jubilant over the prospects of winning the game, members of the eleven left the city Saturday morning with colors flying gayly, and megaphones in perfect working order.

Their return last night was entirely different. It was difficult to find any member of the team who would tell the score, while even one in authority refrained from telling the sad tale, offering the excuse that he, like all the rest of the aggregation, had been cautioned not to divulge the results of the contest in case the Sedalia team lost.

Gould, general superintendent of the Missouri Pacific. By his accommodating manner and ability to fill the position in every detail, he was promptly selected to fill the position made vacant by Mr. Carter's resignation, and every employe of the telegraph department will be glad of his deserved promotion.

SEDALIA IS 50 YEARS OLD

THE EVENT IS TO BE APPROPRIATELY CELEBRATED IN MAY, 1909.

FIRST MEETING ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Idea Is Original With Mr. Carl Botz, Editor of the Journal—Another Meeting on Next Friday, Night, November 27.

At a called meeting of the Sedalia Business Men's association, Friday night, a committee consisting of Carl Botz, A. D. Stanley, J. S. Brenneman, E. R. Smith and C. H. Heynen was appointed to arrange for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Sedalia.

The undertaking is original with Mr. Botz, editor of the Journal, and at the meeting Friday night the more than a score of gentlemen present were enthusiastic in support of the proposed celebration.

Just what form the celebration will assume will be determined later, but it will likely be in the nature of a "home coming" for people who at one time lived in Sedalia, but are now located elsewhere, every section of the great sisterhood of states having among its people one or more ex-Sedalians.

It was in March, 1859, that the first lot was sold in Sedalia, and the following May that the late General George R. Smith, then a resident of Georgetown, began the erection of the first dwelling in Sedalia. This same building is still standing, being located at 909 South Washington avenue, and occupied as a home by Mr. Clark, a section foreman on the M., K. & T. A picture of the structure herewith presented.

The committee appointed at the Friday night meeting had a brief session Saturday and discussed the matter informally. They also talked with Mayor Babcock and other representative citizens, each and every one of whom favored the celebration, which will likely be arranged for some time after May 15, next, to last for three or four days, or possibly a week, when every visitor will be given a royal welcome and made to realize that his presence added materially in making the "home-coming" festivities the most important celebration in the city's history.

In furtherance of the movement Mayor J. L. Babcock has written the following self-explanatory communication:

To All Citizens of Sedalia:

It has been suggested to me by a committee of the Sedalia Business Men's association that proper steps should be taken immediately looking to a proper celebration of the founding of our city the fiftieth anniversary of which will be in May, in the year 1909.

As mayor of the city, I heartily approve of such a course, and to bring the matter in proper form before the people herewith invite all citizens interested in the observance to meet at the court house Friday, November 27, at 7:30 p. m., to take the initiatory steps toward perfecting an organization to fittingly celebrate the event.—J. L. Babcock, Mayor, Sedalia, Mo.

RED INK STOPS BAPTISM

FINDING OF COLORED WATER AROUSES CHURCH PEOPLE IN KANSAS.

SEARCH FOR THE CULPRIT FAILS

Evangelist Was About to Immerse Converts When He Was Startled by Blood-Like Fluid in the Baptistry.

Wichita, Kas., Nov. 21.—Cheney, a little town west of Wichita, is all excited over the putting of red ink into the baptistry at the Christian church there.

A house-to-house canvass is being made to find the culprit, but no clue has yet been obtained.

Evangelist Clutter is holding a series of revival meetings in Cheney. Thursday night following the meeting, preparations were being made to baptize a number of the converts. The converts were taken before the small tank built in the church for a baptistry.

Before dipping these men, Evangelist Clutter raised the cover and found the water colored red.

The baptism was stopped and the meeting ended in confusion. It was thought the reddish color was due from blood, but it was later found it was red ink.

MAY HAVE A MILK FAMINE

Scarcity of Beef Will Also Result in High Prices.

New York, Nov. 21.—Thousands of cattle, swine and sheep are held in pens here as the result of an order placing in quarantine all cattle and other food animals coming from the states of New York and Pennsylvania.

It is feared, in addition to the scarcity of beef that will result in high prices, a milk famine may be caused.

SHOCK OF MURDER KILLS

THE REV. JOSEPH J. PRITCHETT DIED FROM TRULY AWFUL MEMORY.

HE WITNESSED SLAYING OF A MAN

Immediately Afterward Collapsed, and Was Forced to Leave His Charge at Los Angeles on Pacific Coast.

The death at Lebanon, Mo., last Saturday night a week ago, the 14th, of the Rev. J J. Pritchett, a former pastor of the Fifth Street M. E. church, South, of Sedalia, was pathetic in the extreme, as will be seen by the following clipping from the Los Angeles, Cal., Times of the 15th instant:

Rev. Joseph J. Pritchett, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, South, who was an eye witness to the murder of Police Captain Auble, died yesterday at his father's home in Missouri—haunted to death by the memory.

Mr. Pritchett was a man of gentle, sensitive temperament and never recovered from the shock of seeing poor Auble shot to death before his eyes.

As pastor of the Trinity church, he lived in the parsonage at Ninth street and Grand avenue.

Captain Auble and Detective Captain Flammer were directly in front of his house when they attempted to put Sutherland and his pal, Horning, under arrest. Just as the fatal shot was fired at Auble by Sutheriand, Mr. Pritchett was leaving his house.

Running down the steps as fast as he could, he hurried to Auble's side in time to hear him say: "I'm done for this time."

Seeing Flammer fighting with his prisoner, Rev. Pritchett hesitated for a moment between the dying man and the one in danger. Finally he left Auble and ran to Flammer's assistance, helping him to subdue Horning.

When the handcuffs were snapped on Horning's wrists, the minister hurried back again to Auble and tried to soothe him. He stopped an automobile that was passing and helped to place the wounded officer upon the cushions.

When he had done all that he could, Mr. Pritchett collapsed. He took to his bed and never was well again. He continually brooded over the memory of the horrible thing he had seen; he could not sleep and he could nt forget.

He gradually grew worse until it was decided to send him to his father's home in Lebanon, Mo. Though he arrived there completely broken in health, it seemed for a time that he would rally and recover.

Yesterday, however, he suddenly collapsed and died in a short time. The physicians state that the cause of death was paralysis of the brain.

Mr. Pritchett was prominent in the affairs of the church and was considered a preacher of high entertainments. He was about 40 years old, and leaves a widow and one small child.

For several years he was president of Morrisville Collegiate Institute at Morrisville, Mo. Afterward he held pastorates in Lebanon, Sedalia and Kansas City, Mo. He had been in Los Angeles for about two years.

Mrs. Rogers Entertained.

Mrs. Otis Rogers, assisted by Mesdames W. H. Reynolds and O. M. Barnett, entertained a company of young folks at her home Saturday in honor of the twelfth irthday of her son, Joel.

AFTER DEATH, THEN WHAT

SUBJECT OF POWERFUL SERMON BY EVANGELIST HAMILTON LAST NIGHT.

STRONG EXPOSITION OF ETERNITY

Music Was as Inspiring as Ever and Duet Touched All Hearts—Today Will Be a Busy One for Those in Charge of Meetings.

Another interested crowd heard a powerful sermon last night at the Broadway Presbyterian church when Evangelist Hamilton spoke on the subject, "After Death—What? The Judgment." The text was, "It is appointed for men once to die, but after that the judgment."

Life is brief. It begins and soon is gone. No matter how rich or how poor a man is, we all die together. Death is sure and we all have to meet it. We are face to face with this fact: We are appointed unto death and after this the judgment.

It doesn't make any difference if we deny death. That does not change its presence. Eternity! Eternity! Where will you spend eternity?

If death ended all, then of course there would be no after death.. But the very fact that death opens to the judgment makes man fear to face it, when they know they are out of Christ.

Infidels would like to get away from the judgment and cut it out of the Bible. They try to destroy its presence. But they can't change the fact of it. May God shatter the idol in every heart and bring you all to Him.

Jesus is standing before the door of each heart of every unsaved one trying to get in. Won't you let Him into your heart?

There will be one book of law at the judgment. The Bible will regulate the judgment.

Only the sinners shall stand before the judgment seat to tremble and quake. The saved ones shall stand to receive their reward.

A young lady sick in a hospital was given up to die. As she realized it she said to her physician: "Doctor, I am not going to die; I can't die, because I am not prepared. I could meet my mother and my father, but I dare not meet my God."

By thy words, O sinner, shall thou be judged and condemned. There is a record of each one of our lives on the books above. On one side is our good deeds and on the other is our bad deeds. What are you going to do with the bad side. There is only one way to balance the sides of our account. Christ says: "I will blot out your iniquities." I wouldn't want to face my record in the judgment. If I were you, a sensible, right thinking man, I would balance my books above by letting Christ's redeeming blood cleanse all my sins.

The chorus choir is an inspiring part of the service, and the songs give us a glimpse of heaven.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson sang a beautiful duet, "If You Love Your Mother Meet Her in the Skies." There was also a solo by Wm. S. Dixon, "Now I am Outside the Fold."

A number are interested and many are expected to find peace in the Savior soon.

Today is expected to be a red letter day in the history of the church. The subject this morning at 11 o'clock will be, "The Preciousness of Jesus."

Tonight's subject, "Why many in Sedalia Are Not Saved."

A mammoth men's meeting will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The evangelist, Mr. Hamilton, has a message for every man and urges them all to come. Mr. Henderson, the singer, will sing at this service, and there will be plenty of gospel singing such as men love to hear. You will miss something good if you fail to be present this afternoon.

The seating capacity of the church will be taxed to overflowing today, so come early if you want a seat.

If you are tired and weary in life, here is rest. Come today.

There will be no services Monday, that being the evangelist's rest day. Services Tuesday morning, noon and evening as usual, and throughout the week.

Licensed to Wed.

A marriage license was issued Saturday to John F. Robinson and Eliza J. Burriss, both of Sedalia.

A HOME COMING DAY.

The idea of a "Home Coming Day," to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Sedalia, as advanced by Mr. Charles Botz, editor of the Journal, to the Business Men's association, is a good one and should be taken up and earnestly advocated by every resident of the city.

Nowhere in the land, perhaps, is there a city which has more reason to be proud of its history than this, for from its small beginning it has kept pace with the march of events during the half century of its existence, and always has made itself felt among progressive municipalities of the state and nation.

Everywhere—east and west, north and south—in hundreds and hundreds of communities, large and small, may be found some former residents of Sedalia, who still cherish with fond and tender thoughts the memory of the time when they were among those who called the Queen City their home, all of whom no doubt would be glad to return and mingle once again with the friends of long ago and revisit the spots made sacred by the joys of vanished years.

When it is considered how short a time, comparatively, has elapsed since the first lot was sold and the first house built on the prairie now covered by the city, its growth to its present proportions has indeed been remarkable, especially when it is remembered that that growth had no sudden boom to aid it, no discovery of oil or gas or mineral to stimulate a rush of fortune seekers to its confines.

Its advancement through the two score and ten years has been a steady and conservative one, buildings were erected only when needed, streets were opened, business established, schools and churches constructed as the population increased and the people required and demanded each, and so it is that now there is a place for every one in the city, and that it is a thriving, prosperous community of self-satisfied and self-respecting citizens.

Of those who have gone out into the big, wide world, called by the insistent demands of ambition, and the recognition of their worth and ability by the captains of great enterprises, there are many and among them men who have risen high in their special lines of endeavor and have made their names known and honored throughout the entire world. Jurists of international fame, lawyers of eminence, railway officials, from presidents down, bankers, financiers, editors, physicians, ministers and business men, renowned and famous in their particular lines, once called Sedalia home, and among them there are hundreds who will be more than glad to hark back to the good old town on "Home Coming Day."

By all means, let us have the celebration and scatter far and wide the glad tidings that Sedalia will open her gates, her homes and her hearts to those who, though they have wandered afar, are still remembered and loved by those who have remained and who have erected an imperishable monument to their endeavors in building the beautiful city in which they live—Sedalia.

ARE ALREADY AT THE TOP.

The trouble with the farmers' uplift intention of the president is that the farmers are already "way up," in fact, "out of sight." They do not want to be uplifted. The president's commission can not reach them. The first necessity is to get them down off their perch. The crops have exceeded expectations. The trolley lines are feeling their way out to the farms; telephones and rural mail routes have put them in touch with the world. The farmer is not the oppressed; he is the oppressor and he has pie for breeakfast. How can he be isolated with trolley lines and automobiles and with a comfortable surplus in the bank?

But the president has written another letter with the intention of convincing the farmers that this uplift business is just what they need.

ALCOHOL TO DOWN COAL OIL.

The secretary of the Farmers' National committee is of the opinion that the time has arrived when alcohol will be a successful competitor of coal oil. The general uses of the denatured article are as fuel, in heating cooking and lighting. It is said to be cheaper than coal oil at present prices. Then, it is smokeless, sootless and odorless.

The industry is, of course, in its infancy, and it is expected that in time alcohol will be much cheaper than it is now, at 50 cents a gallon. At present corn is the main material from which the alcohol that is used for commercial purposes in this country is made, but in time it will be made from many other and cheaper materials.

HERE'S WHAT LOVE IS.

Chung Yu Wang, A. M., in his book on the origin and nature of love, says:

"Love is a state of feeling manifesting itself invariably under the guise of the higher and lower emotions, but due to an innate impulse, either primary or secondary, through instinct, association or accommodation, or expression of the act of ejecting one's ideal self or ego for its fulfillment and satisfaction in a sentiment or imaginary being, having elements that are capable of arousing that impulse through qualities absent in the one in whom such feeling is generated and in whom the power of imagination is capable of approaching to emotional hyperbole."

If some school ma'rm or grammar expert will parse this for us, we will make an effort to understand it.

A committee has been appointed and will soon start for the backwoods to study conditions on the farm, with a view to assisting the president to devise means to make country life more agreeable. They will probably find that the farmers are troubled by the same conditions as the poor man in the cities—that is, too little money and too much work. But the junketers must have their junkets.

John Morehead, congressman-elect from North Carolina, says his friends have betrayed him by effecting his election, when he understood distinctly that he was to be an "also ran." But he need not mourn. No one in Washington will pay any attention to him, and except for answering to his name at roll call, Uncle Joe will see that he has nothing to do in congress.

Rumor says that the Princess de Sagan, formerly Countess Castellane, and still more formerly Anna Gould, is going to get a divorce from her princely husband. As she married the prince to spite the count, she may now be contemplating re-marrying the count to spite the prince. "Ain't it awful, Mabel?"

The democrats are not the only ones who are mourning the election of Mr. Taft. The rough riders of all politics have seen their fate sealed by the retirement of Mr. Roosevelt, and they will have to go way back and sit down with those once favored people who came from Canton, O.

President Butler wants $100,000,000 for the establishment of a "culture trust" in New York. There can be no doubt but that city needs it.

A Chicago policeman who instituted a raid and then failed to recognize a faro layout is going to be discharged. In this case, as usual, innocence is its only reward.

It will be strange if the Outlook next year does not have some articles on the betterment of conditions in Africa.

Can it be that Nat Goodwin is ambitious to show that he can beat Lillian Russell' matrimonial record?

HICKS THE GROCER

Knew Meat from Carrion.

Tennessee bred two great orators in the olden days—Andrew Johnson, a Democrat, once president of the United States, and Gustavus A. Henry, a Whig, known as the "eagle orator of the South."

They ran against each other for governor and when a long series of joint debates had reached its close Johnson addressed the Whigs in the audience: "I have spoken with the boasted eagle orator from the Mississippi river to the Unaka mountains, and as yet I see no flesh in his talons or blood on his beak."

Quick as a flash Henry was on his feet, saying: "The American eagle is a proud bird and feeds not on carrion."——Nashville Banner.

Doctor Not Needed.

"I got an awfully funny note once from Gen. ——, an Irish-American on the staff of Gov. ——," said Dr. Shackelforth. "His wife was taken with a sudden indisposition, he summoned his servant and bade him get the buggy ready to come for me. By the time the horse was hitched up and the general had written me a note his wife recovered. But he sent the note anyway, with a postscrip.

"'My Dear Doctor: I wish you would hurry around this way as fast as you can. My wife is desperately ill. Jump into my buggy and come along. Don't let anything stop you.

"'P. S.—My wife having recovered, you need not come.'"

Our Names Lack Color.

At any early period, and indeed well toward the beginnings of modern history, proper names told something as to paternity, occupation and habitation; to-day they are quite colorless. A new Ulysses would no longer be Laertides; no Peter indicates that he is the son of Paul. A Carpenter or a Weaver is likely to be a lily-fingered stock broker. Even the place names, complains the Nation, have pretty much disappeared, except in the case of nobility, and since the average gentle family has not for years lived on its titular estate, or perhaps has had none at all, our new Gastons de Foix give us a name about as sapless as John Jones.

By "Footlights."

Glau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in avoirdupois—that is to say, gross flesh. The entire galaxy has lost out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems the people out west will support slim ballerinos, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus" carried, so to speak, in weight with them. They treated the prize collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently, Glau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once or shipping them back—"excess" baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town will admit, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records, in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Glau didn't rehearse his flock into shape, nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally, into shadows. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing rooms to the effect that every lady less than five feet seven who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be) of the following: One-half ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3¼ ounces Peppermint Water.

They did it and in a month averaged a loss of a pound a day apiece. "That's a dandy recipe," says Glau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word go. Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

Mrs. Porter Died Saturday Night.

WHO DEPOSITS YOUR DOLLARS ?

It seems strange that some people will insist upon contributing to the growing wealth of everybody but themselves. Somebody is paying you and you are paying the other fellow. The other fellow is likely running a bank account, and accumulating a certain portion of every dollar you pay.

Where Do You Come In?

Why not save and deposit a portion of your dollars for yourself? Open an account with this bank; any amount will do to start with.

CAUSED BY LACK OF THOUGHT.

Cruelty Most Frequently Inflicted in Carelessness.

Most of the cruelty of the world is thoughtless cruelty. Very few people would intentionally add to another's load or make his burden in life heavier or his path rougher. Most of the great heart-wounds are inflicted in a moment of anger, when, perhaps, we were too proud to apologize or to try to heal the grievous wounds we had made. Can anything be more cruel than to discourage a soul who is struggling to do the best he can, to throw stumbling blocks in the path of those who are trying to get on in the world against great odds? No life is just the same after you have once touched it. Will you leave a ray of hope or one of despair, a flash of light or a somber cloud across some dark life each day? Will you by thoughtless cruelty deepen the shadow which hangs over the life, or will you by kindness dispel it altogether? No matter how you feel or what is disturbing your peace of mind, never allow yourself to send out a discouraging, a cruel, or an unkind word or thought.—Success Magazine.

DOG SPECTACLES THE LATEST.

English Aristocrat May Have Started a New Fad.

A dog in spectacles is the latest fad. It has not reached New York yet, but Lady Aylesford has been seen in Piccadilly with one of her famous breed of chows in tow, wearing a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles. Her friends smiled, and she explained that the poor doggie's eyesight had become so defective that she had taken him to an oculist who fitted him with glasses.

Dogs in New York have been taken to dentists and their teeth have been filled with gold; they have had their nails manicured by experts, the hair of poodles, spaniels and Scotch terriers have been dressed and curled by "tonsorial artists;" some delicate dogs, such as Italian greyhounds, have been dressed in sealskin coats; other pampered pets have worn gold bracelets and diamond collars, but spectacles seem new.

The next step will probably be for some one to fit a British bulldog with a solitaire eyeglass and a cigarette.

Nothing is known of such a move locally and it is not at all likely that any effort will be made by petition or otherwise to secure executive clemency either from Governor Folk or his successor.

IRELAND'S NEED OF FORESTS.

Like United States, She Is Late in Waking Up to Her Sins.

Ireland has awakened to the national value of her forests, but so late that radical measures will now be necessary to make up for past neglect. A commission appointed by the crown to investigate the condition of Ireland's forests and to suggest measures for bettering it has just made public its report.

The commission outlines and vigorously urges the adoption of a large scheme for the state to plant about 700,000 acres with forest trees. This, with the 300,000 acres of existing forest, would give Ireland 1,000,000 acres of forest land, an essential for the agricultural and industrial requirements of the country.

About 20,000 acres of this would be purchased by the state in mountainous and rough regions and managed as state forest, says Harper's Weekly, while 500,000 acres, chiefly in small blocks, would be planted by the state but managed by private owners or by county councils.

The fact that under the land purchase acts much woodland formerly held in large blocks is being sold in small parcels and lumbered and that there is now opportunity for the government to acquire woods and land suitable for forests make it specially urgent for the state to take immediate action.

To show that such a scheme of land acquisition and planting is not impracticable the commission cites the case of Denmark, an agricultural country half the size of Ireland, which since 1881 has increased her forests by 175,000 acres.

ELECTRICAL POWER FROM PEAT.

Ireland's Bogs Likely to Prove Source of Vast Wealth.

From peat to electrical power is the story of a new enterprise in Ireland. The scheme is to erect a central station upon the Grand canal, about 24 miles from Dublin, to produce blast furnace gas frrom the peat which will drive huge gas engines, these in turn propelling electric generators of sufficient capacity to furnish electrical energy over Kings county and Kildare. The process to be exploited is that of a German inventor, whose large factory near Munich has been operating successfully for about two years. Peat containing as much as 50 per cent. moisture can be used satisfactorily, the moisture becoming an essential ingredient of the water gas and preventing too rapid combustion. An elaborate plant is to be installed for by-products, such as sulphate of ammonia, tars, and tar oils, etc., which in themselves are of appreciable commercial value. In the German factory the process is of a dual nature. Peat from which 75 per cent. of the moisture can be evaporated is converted into peat coke, which is used as a fuel in the German navy and many industrial concerns, while the raw material, which retains half its moisture, is for producing the gas from which the by-products are extracted.

Store Was Broken Into.

Charles Hoffman's grocery store on East Fifth street was entered by thieves Friday night, but nothing of value was taken. Entrance was gained by forcing open a rear window, after an unsuccessful attempt to open the front door.

The combination of the safe was not thrown, and the intruder forced open private boxes in the safe, carrying away some papers. Aside from this Mr. Hoffman missed only a few pies.

The Spelling Bee Friday Night.

The word "whippoorwill" proved a Waterloo for Prosecuting Attorney H. D. Dow at the spelling bee given by the Golden Links Missionary society of the Methodist church, South, at the court house Friday evening.

The professional men of the city, opposed by the public school teachers of the city, participated in the contest, Circuit Judge Hoffman acting as "quizzer."

Prosecuting Attorney Dow was the first speller to fall, all of his cogitating being unable to assist him in spelling correctly the word "whippoorwill." Miss Elizabeth Landmann was the last to miss a word and was awarded the prize, a box of candy.

Attorney Lee Montgomery was second to the last in taking his seat.

THREE COUNTIES THERE

WAS GOOD ATTENDANCE AT THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT SMITHTON.

THE SESSIONS LASTED TWO DAYS

Creditable Displays of Corn, Potatoes, Pumpkins, Butter, Etc., for Which Liberal Prizes Were Awarded.

The second day of the Farmers' Institute and Corn show at Smithton Saturday was better attended by the farmers of East Pettis and Cooper and Morgan counties and more interest was manifested than on the first day. The meeting for the two days throughout was most successful. The state lecturers in attendance said it was the best meeting and greater interest was manifested than any they had held in the state.

There was a most creditable display of corn, potatoes, pumpkins, butter, etc., although there was only two weeks' notice in which to make selections.

The Woodmen hall was filled to overflowing Saturday morning to listen to the speakers, F. H. Hillman, of Washington City, was the first speaker, and he delivered a most interesting talk of one and one-half hours on "Seed, and Testing Seed." That his remarks were well received was indicated by the number of questions asked by his audience. He was followed by F. G. King, who gave a talk on "Experimenting in Hog Feeding," showing the improvement with various kinds of feed.

After dinner Col. John T. Stinson, secretary of the state fair board, addressed the meeting on "Corn Culture," urging the selection of good seed. Col. Stinson congratulated the people on the success of their first meeting and urged them to put forth efforts for a better meeting next year. He suggested that if their hall prove too small to secure a large tent, and if that could not be done, then move to Sedalia, and the state fair board would supply them with an abundance of room to accommodate their crowd.

S. M. Jordan followed, in a splendid talk on "Corn and Corn Culture," and his remarks were most interesting.

The people of Smithton and vicinity are already talking of their meeting one year hence and are arranging for a four days' meeting, with state lecturers secured for each day.

The following prizes were awarded:

Best ten ears Reid's yellow dent corn—First, Harry Sneed; second, W. Cotton.

Best ten ears Boone County white corn—First, Dennis Bluhm; second, Harry Sneed.

Best ten ears any other standard white corn—First, Harry Sneed; second, W. I. McCord.

Best peck Early Ohio potatoes—First, Fred Green; second, E. G. Ringen.

Best peck any other variety—First, Mrs. John Burgamaster; second, William Homan.

Largest pumpkin—First, Joseph Kahrs; second, D. Bluhm.

Best two pounds butter—First, Mrs. C. F. Peabody, graded 95; second, Mrs. J. P. Sink, graded 94.

There were twenty-four entries in butter alone, all of a splendid quality, and the judges, Mrs. Larry Ginter, Col. M. V. Carroll and George B. Lamm, had some trouble in making the proper awards, but their judgment was affirmed by all who witnessed the display. The two pounds which received the first premium tested 95 and the second 94.

HAD AN ARM TORN OFF

Wm. McCabe, of Near Vermont, Victim of Serious Accident.

Wm. H. McCabe, about 60 years old, who lives in a house on John F. Vick's farm near Vermont, was the victim of a most deplorable accident at Tipton Wednesday morning, says the Bunceton Eagle. He was feeding Henry Richey's corn shredder, which was at work for Redmon & Hurst, on Dr. Redmon's farm, just east of Tipton.

His left arm was in some manner caught and drawn into the rapidly revolving cylinder. His hand was torn to shreds and his arm torn and mutilated. He was taken to the home of Dr. Redmon, where his arm was amputated above the elbow, the operation being performed by Drs. Redmon and Marsh.

Mr. McCabe, who is a laborer, is in poor circumstances and has a wife and several children. His misfortune under the circumstances is all the more deplorable.

Electrical Air Filters.

Electric air filtration is the idea of an English engineer, and is based on the discovery that a body positively electrified by 100 volts or more will become covered with soot in a single day in a smoky atmosphere, while a negatively charged body remains clean. Inserting a sheet of wire gauze in the intake flue of a ventilating system and electrifying it by connecting to a 250-volt supply main, the gauze extracted a large quantity of soot from the air.

ARTFUL DODGER CAPTURED

Man With One Handcuff Was Taken in Custody at Clinton.

He escaped last night from the constable in Windsor. He was Richard Hines, who was wanted at Macon, Mo., for some offense.

The arresting officer removed the handcuff from one wrist while the prisoner ate supper at a restaurant, and Hines gave him the slip, escaping from a rear door.

Friday morning he boarded the train at Calhoun, having bought a ticket to Clinton. The conductor wired ahead to have an officer at the depot, as Hines still wore the handcuff on one wrist.

The fellow, however, got off at Lewis and was afterwards seen about noon walking on the railroad track toward Clinton. At North Clinton Marshal Davis apprehended him and put him behind the bars.

"When We Are Old"

We need our sight just as much as we do now. We are always thinking about laying something by for a rainy day, but we are apt to neglect our eyes and allow them to get weak and lose their strength, so that when we are old they are very little use to us.

A little strain may not annoy you, but it will make your eyes grow old. Have Ormond, our optical expert, tell you how to preserve them so they will last until the curtain falls.

SEDDALIA THEATRE.

"Brewster's Millions."

"Brewster's Millions," which will be presented at the Sedalia theater tonight by Cohan & Harris, comedians, is a dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated fantastic story of the same name, which had a tremendous vogue in book shops. Appreciating its adaptability to the stage, Messrs. Winchell Smith and Byron Ongley made a dramatization which developed into the whirlwind success of the decade. The play was written and produced by Frederic Thompson, of Thompson & Dundy, those marvelous creators and builders of Luna park at Coney Island, which resort alone speaks worlds for the creative ability and ingenuity of Mr. Thompson.

Originally produced en tour "Brewster's Millions" was such an instantaneous hit that the New York managers made a wild scramble to secure it for the metropolis, and finally when it was seen on Broadway it created such a sensation that it remained there for an entire year, and now has the distinction of being played in seven languages in as many countries.

The yacht scene in the third act, which is unquestionably the apex of all scenic achievements of a like nature will be given here in its entirety and will be a duplicate of the one seen in New York, Chicago and London. Messrs. Cohan & Harris have left nothing undone to make this the dramatic event of the season.

BERTHA KALICH,
In "Cora," at Wood's Opera House, Saturday Night November 28th.

At the Sedalia Theater Monday Night.

Owing to the scarcity of traveling theatrical companies this season, the management of the Sedalia theater has secured the rights from the Cameraphone Co. to use the marvelous Cameraphone, which is absolutely the latest achievement in the moving picture world. This machine has been secured at quite an expense and the Sedalia theater has the exclusive right to give the Cameraphone performances. You not only see a first class picture, but you see and hear the different characters in the picture talking and acting their parts. The Cameraphone Co. uses for their subjects such well known vaudeville artists as Mabel Hite ad Mike Donlin, Helen Johnson, Rising & Nares, William & Hanly and others who are well known in theatricals.

The Ranch, the Girl and the Cowboy.

Good, clean, wholesome amusement is demanded by theater-going public of the present day. Amusement that really amuses and fills one with pleasure. It is all furnished in "The Ranch, the Girl and the Cowboy," which is to be presented at the Sedalia theater Thursday, Thanksgiving day, matinee and night. It is a story of California ranch life, written to music.

WOOD'S OPERA HOUSE.

On Monday night, Nov. 23, the Barton Amusement Co., under the personal direction of George L. Barton, will offer at Wood's opera house an absolute revelation to the amusement public one of the greatest sensational melo-dramatic oddities brains, tact and experience have ever achieved, Franz Malnor's conquest, "The Devil."

The theater-going public is constantly seeking something new in amusement attractions. The business man is in quest of that sort of wit and comedy to relieve the mind of the constant strain absorbed through out the day by financial responsibilities, seeking enjoyment which is sparkling and fresh, preparing him with vitality to encounter the forthcoming day. The women love a pretty story with the true rich blood of the moral effect all through its veins, elegant costumes, thrilling climaxes, and situations the young girl, the young man and sweetheart victory for the pure and true, death or degredation to the villainous.

The average theatrical production of today, with reference to dramatic comic opera or musical comedies, they have not been "stirred up" sufficiently or whipped with the fork enough to make them frothy with elegance, with particular reference to keeping the audience sitting half way in one's seat, breathing with quietness, in fear of missing one single word. Franz Malnor, the author of "The Devil," is this kind of a man in ordinary chat, consequently the pen has characterized him in this production, varying from anything you have ever witnessed, retaining your interest by the master's methods and interpretation of lines that cause you to laugh, think deep and embody you with the good will and true life of man and woman. You breathe deeply and smile with genuine gratitude, and have something new and fresh in your mind to remember for many months to come after witnessing the performance of "The Devil."

Bertha Kalich.

In comment of the first performance of Bertha Kalich, in her latest success, "Cora," the play in which she will be seen here at Wood's opera house on the evening of Nov. 28, the Post of Kansas City says:

"Bertha Kalich displayed a new aspects of her art. She is mistress of a night in her impersonation of 'Cora,' in the play of that name, for as 'Cora' Madame Kalich is given opportunity to reveal new and mellower aspects of her art. She is mistress on a wonderful art; she charms and captivates her audience by a mingling of personality and histrionic skill, and when one is once under her spell he remains fascinated.

"The company is all good, and the production is put on with all the care and artistic quality for which Mr. Fiske is noted. The scenery is very beautiful, particularly in the last act. Madame Kalich was given eight curtain calls at the end of the third act."

Snakes' Ears.

Snakes have no external ears, but inside the head the ear bones are very crude, says St. Nicholas. Snakes "hear," however, by feeling vibration of sound on their delicate scaly covering, and searching for sound vibrations by protruding the wonderfully sensitive tongue which is filled with thousands of microscopic nerves. Their sight is very keen in distinguishing moving objects.

Aluminum is now compounded with magnesium to form magnalium, a new alloy, which is almost unaffected by damp air, water, gaseous ammonia, carbonic acid and most organic acids. It can be cast in the liquid conditions, like pure aluminum, and the castings can be machined, acquiring a smooth, mirror-like surface.

Scotch Superstition.

Under no circumstances on the northeast coast of Scotland will a fisherman at sea mention certain objects on land, such as "minister," "kirk," "swine," "dog," etc., and the line will surely be lost if a pig is seen while baiting it. As on the land chickens must not be counted until they are hatched, so at sea fish must not be counted until they are all caught.

Derivation of "Sheeny."

The word "Sheeny," as applied in an opprobrious way to Jews, is by some identified with the word "Chien," which is French for "dog." But others identify this word with "Shieh," the initial letter in "Shekinah," which makes the original application of the term an honorable one.

What Others Say About the Show

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 20, '08.

Mr. Geo. F. Hall, Sedalia, Mo.

Dear George:—

I intended to write you earlier regarding "BREWSTER'S MILLIONS," but have been too busy to do so. We played the attraction here last Saturday night to a capacity house, and the show gave excellent satisfaction.

The third act was one of the greatest scenes I ever saw on the stage. You need not have any hesitancy in guaranteeing the attraction to your patrons. With kindest regards,

I remain yours,

GEO. F. OLENDORF.

MONEY TRANSFERRED BY TELEGRAPH CABLE OFFICE

To the Sedalia Theatre-Going Public:

The very best way either you or myself have of ascertaining the quality of the attractions coming to the Sedalia Theatre is by the criticisms of the press of the cities. The late magazines of the day are full of reading matter pertaining to "THE DEVIL," and page after page has been given up in cuts and scenes showing the situations which are brought about in this great play written by Franz Molnar.

After considering the large amount of space which has given this play its wide publicity, there is one thing to be considered, and that is that the articles have given only two producers credit for same. The productions referred to are Savage's and Fiske's. The former being presented at the Garden theatre, and the latter at the Belasco theatre, New York City. The third producer has not even been heard of heretofore. It should not be necessary for me to say anything in regard to an attraction which is under the direct management of Henry W. Savage. The fac-simile of a telegram received by me on November 17th is self-explanatory, and I assure our patrons that after they see this attraction, they will find that everything which has been said in regard to same is absolutely the truth, and the management of this theatre is willing to stand behind what they print in both our Sedalia newspapers in the way of advertising.

Yours truly,

GEORGE F. HALL, Mgr. Sedalia Theatre.

NEW DEPARTMENT OPEN

First Day of Quinn Bros.' Bargain Basement a Great Success.

Though usually quite busy on ordinary Saturdays, Quinn Bros.' store took on a much busier appearance yesterday with the opening of the new Bargain Basement. All day long the basement store was crowded with shoe buyers, all of whom were pleased and astonished at the neatness of the new store and at the number and genuineness of the bargains displayed.

Quinn Bros. long since came to the conclusion that only by honest advertising could a steady business be worked up. They felt that dishonest advertising meant dishonest business and that the confidence of the public could not be held by such methods. From the appearance of their basement store yesterday it appears that their advertising principles have met with the confidence of the public. They employ no wild-cat advertising tactics, but depend for the most part upon the quality of their goods and their business methods to advertise their store.

Mr. Al Yost, one of the best shoe salesmen in Sedalia, and one with a host of friends among the shoe-buying public, was in charge yesterday, and personally looked to the comfort of every customer. Quinn Bros. expressed themselves as well pleased with the success of the new department, and are more than ever satisfied with its future. As one of the members of the firm expressed it:

"We were confident that our Bargain Basement would fill a long felt want in our business, but from the success of the opening we are now convinced of the fact. While we shall endeavor to keep the two departments separate, offering for sale in the basement only such sample shoes, odd sizes and broken lots that will come out of our main stock, we shall keep up the quality of our goods there as in our main store."

Many improvements looking to the greater convenience of customers will be made in the next few days, and now that their new venture is launched, Quinn Bros. can rest assured of the success of the Bargain Basement.

MRS. GREEN IS AGED 73

SHE HAS THE REPUTATION OF BEING STINGIEST WOMAN IN AMERICA.

NEW BOND ISSUE OF $12,500,000

An Awful Word Has Struck Gotham—Mr. Savage's "Devil" Was a Big Drawing Card—The "Emmanuel Movement."

(By Glenn Guernsey.)

New York, Nov. 21.—Hetty Howland Robinson Green, who is more easily recognizable as Mrs. Hetty Green, is today receiving the congratulations of friends upon reaching her seventy-third birthday. Despite the fact that she is weighted down by the cares and troubles entailed by the possession of millions, and the further misfortune of living in Hoboken, the "richest woman in the world" is still a spry old person, able and ready to hold up her end in any transaction involving the interchange of the coin of the realm.

When the aged but lively Hetty took up her residence some months ago in a fashionable New York hotel the fawning sycophants of New York society gathered about the feminine financier, hoping to receive some small crumbs from her table. In this expectation they were disappointed. Hetty received her new friends with politeness, but the strangle-hold which she always keeps on her purse strings was not relaxed for a moment.

Taken by and large, Mrs. Green is a sensible old woman, and it didn't require any extended period for her keen eyes to perceive the empty-patedness of what is called society. Then she gathered up her faded and worn skirts, took a firmer grip on her pocketbook and hied herself back to Hoboken, where she now resides. Her present address is No. 1309 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, N. J., where a capacious waste basket awaits the "begging letters" which pour in upon Mrs. Green in every mail.

Not So Very Stingy.

At that, Mrs. Green is not so stingy as is generally believed. While she doesn't employ a brass band to attract a crowd while she brags of her benefactions, there is reason to believe that the world's richest woman is not utterly lacking in charitable instincts.

Few financiers have more extensive interests than has Mrs. Green. Nearly every important corporation in the world has some of its stocks or shrewd and judicious investments. In 1867 Mrs Green, then a wealthy widow, acquired her present cognomen by marrying Edward H. Green, who died in 1902. Since then, many and divers men have made goo-goo eyes at the sprightly widow, but without effect.

Municipal Bond Issue.

It takes a lot of money to conduct the municipal government of a big town like New York. This statement will be vouched for by Comptroller Mertz, upon whose shoulders rests the formidable burden of providing for the financial solvency of the city. Just now the treasury isn't overflow bonds in Hetty's strong box, and she has extensive real estate possessions in New York, Chicago, Texas and elsewhere. She personally superintends this vast estate, and the man shrewd enough to cheat her in a trade has not yet been born. In fact, many famous financiers have in the past been saved from disaster by appealing to Mrs. Green. Incidentally they have paid roundly for their salvation.

Mrs. Green's first husband was Edward Mott Robinson, who died in 1865, leaving her a large fortune, which she has doubled many times by ing with coin, and in order to "raise the wind" and keep the receipts within hailing distance of the expenditures, the comptroller has had to arrange another bond issue.

The new issue will be of the tidy sum of $12,500,000 and will be sold Monday. Twelve millions will run for fifty years, while the small balance will be redeemable in a decade. The bonds will bear 4 per cent interest. The last two public sales of city bonds have been at 4½ per cent, but the comptroller believes that the election of a new Theodore of the United States, in the person of William H. Taft, has restored confidence to such an extent that the new issue of 4's will be gladly licked up by investors.

For the convenience of out of town capitalists desiring to invest in these bonds, the writer will gladly act as broker for a reasonable commission. Cash must accompany the communication and no attention will be paid to letters containing less than a million dollars.

Awful Word in Town.

"Dampskibactiesalskabet Hermod, come into court."

That what John McSherry, crier in the court of Justice Platzek, had to tear out of his vocal organs this week. At the hour of rushing to press, it is reported that he will recover.

The "Dam-and-so-forth" isn't a new cuss cuss word or the name of a breakfast food, although it is quite worthy of either. It's a Norwegian corporation, and it inflicted itself on the New York courts by filing a suit which has to do with the stranding of the Norwegian steamship Hermod outside of the harbor of Cardenas on February 21, 1905.

Ta-Ta, Mr. Devil.

Mr. Henry W. Savage's "Devil," Henry E. Dixey, has gone hence from the Garden theatre, and the remaining disciples of Mephistophles are playing to audiences that daily sarink in number. It is evident that the vogue of His Satanic Travestry is a thing of the past and even the genius of Mr. Arliss, head "Devil" to Belasco, cannot long keep the Hungarian comedy before the American public. Old Nick had a huge vogue while he lasted, but it was evident from the first that he was too subtle for Americans.

A drama which bears the title of "Mary Jane's Pa" will succeed "The Devil" at the Garden theatre, and will have its first metropolitan performance on Monday night. Another new dramatic offering for Monday night is John Valentine's comedy, "The Stronger Sex," which will follow "Paid in Full" at Weber's. Miss Annie Russell will head the cast. The comedy had a run of over two hundred nights in London.

Mental Healing.

The "crude materialism" which characterizes modern medical and surgical practices, will no longer be opposed only by Christian Scientists and other unorthodox persons. The Bowery already has its Episcopal "mental healer," and the same denomination this week launched a movement which is designed to convert the wealthy and well-to-do. The Boston ministers who inaugurated what they call the "Emmanuel Movement" have commenced a series of lectures under the patronage of St George's church, which has a congregation composed of J. Pierpont Morgan and nearly 8,000 other persons.

The "Emmanuelists" claim to be able to cure only nervous troubles and minor mental distempers, and the person with a stomachache, a broken leg or an uprising of the molars must continue to seek relief through the "crude materialism" of the em dees and the dee dee esses.

Oh, Those Awful Kids!

Next Thursday, according to the most reliable reports from Washington, will be Thanksgiving Day. Also, in New York, it will mark the Uprising of the Kids. A hundred thousand, more or less, of smutty-faced boys and girls, apparently unprovided with parents, will smear their frontispieces with lampblack and other decorative materials and swarm out on the streets to play the part of public beggars. Wearing the most outlandish costumes available, the kids will gather about every adult passerby and beg clamorously for alms. The pedestrian who has disposed of all his available pennies, nickels and dimes will be hooted and insulted by the little cherubs. As an education in politeness and self respect, Thanksgiving Day in the metropolis is a howling success.

Just why parents possessed of any remaining remnants of proper pride should allow their young hopefuls to participate in such debasing revels and public exhibitions of the spirit of street-corner beggary is a secret which I am unable to explain. Certainly, such a general and widespread exhibition of juvenile cupidity would be possible in no other city than New York.

STOLEN JEWELS RECOVERED

Arrested in St. Joseph With Grip Worth $40,000.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21.—Charles Leonard, a porter at the Henshaw hotel, early yesterday picked up a grip containing $40,000 worth of jewelry, which had been given over to his care by Charles F. Hartshorn, a traveling salesman for a Newark, N. J. house, and made his escape.

He went to an express office and shipped the grip to Hamburg, Ia., and he himself left on a Burlington train for the south. The police of St. Joseph were notified and Leonard was arrested there. The jewelry was secured by officers at Hamburg.

LONE BANDIT LINES UP SIXTY

Gambling House Looted of $4,000 at West Hammond.

West Hammond, Ind., Nov. 21.—Sixty gamblers were held up at the point of revolvers and robbed of nearly $4,000 in cash and jewelry by a lone highwayman in a gambling house here, according to information which leaked out this afternoon. No complaint was made by the gamblers as they feared the authorities would close the place.

The gamblers were lined up against the wall by the robber, who carried two revolvers. He said that he had companions and that the place was surrounded. After he had escaped it was found that he was alone.

A GIRL FROM LEXINGTON

WAS GIVEN A BOGUS FIVE DOLLAR BILL BY THE BANK OF WELLSTON.

SHE PAID HER TUITION IN ST. LOUIS

Case Was Placed in the Hands of Lee T. Philpot for Investigation—Bank Gave Good Currency for Counterfeit.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21.—Lee T. Philpot, of the United States secret service office, yesterday ran down one of the bogus $5 silver certificates. The bill was reported by the Gallaudet School for the Deaf, 3435 Henrietta avenue. Mr. Philpot took up the bill and was informed that the money was paid in there by Miss Emma J. Fulkerson, daughter of J. J. Fulkerson, of Lexington, Mo.

Miss Fulkerson resides with her aunt, Mrs. Mell, at 5947 Cote Brilliant avenue, and Philpot made his next stop at that address.

Miss Fulkeron is a pupil of the school. She explained that she had received a check for $20 from her father and had gone with her cousin, Miss Bessie Bell, a school teacher, to the State Bank of Wellston, where it was cashed. Out of the money she said she paid her tuition at the Gallaudet school.

The secret service agent next turned his attention to the bank. He explained the circumstances to Cashier G. S. Hurst. The latter recalled cashing the check and stated that he would give Miss Fulkerson good currency for the counterfeit.

COLOR LINE WAS DRAWN

PUPILS WITHDREW FROM COLLEGE CLASSES AND HANG NEGRO IN EFFIGY.

BAD ROW IN A VETERINARY SCHOOL

Court Order for Admission of Negroes May Disrupt Michigan School Unless the Supreme Court Interferes in Case.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 21.—Hanging in effigy a figure representing a colored student, thirty-four of the thirty-nine members of the junior class at the Grand Rapids Veterinary college yesterday morning showed their feling toward the negro and proved that a court order can not make a man cross the color line.

Felix D. Booker and Wesley D. McCoy, colored lads, were refused permission to enter the school this year, though they were members last year.

They took the case to the courts, and yesterday Judge Perkins held that they must be permitted to enter the school.

The judge held that as the school is to some extent under the supervision of the state, it is a state institution and no citizen can be refused admission. The authorities of the school claimed it was a private school.

Friday morning the negroes applied and were admitted by Dean H. L. Schup. The junior class at once walked out and passed resolutions to the effect that they would positively not attend the class with colored students. Later the students made up an effigy representing a colored man with the face blacked with charcoal and hung it in one of the halls of the building.

The class went ahead, but there were only six pupils in it, four whites and the two colored lads. Friday afternoon the faculty met and suspended the entire class until next Tuesday, when they will have decided what action to take. The students say they will stand pat.

The faculty had intended to take the case up to the supreme court to see if they could be forced to admit the colored boys. They will do this now and will also try to get a mandamus suspending Judge Perkins' order until the supreme court can hear the case.

Booker is from Texas and claims to be a graduate of Washington institute at Tuskegee. McCoy is from Kansas City, and says he is a graduate of the Kansas Agricultural college. Arrangements have been made to give them seats a little distance from the rest of the class, but the class would not have it.

A peculiar feature of the case is that while many members of the class are southerners, the officers are all from the north. They are: President, Arthur Hulett, South Dayton, N. Y.; secretary, C. R. Curtis, Onstead Mich.; treasurer William Kortender, Decatur, Ind.

Exploding Diamonds.

A curious fact about diamonds is that it is not uncommon for the crystals to explode as soon as they are brought up from the mine. Sometimes they have burst in the pockets, or the warm hands of miners, due to the effect of increased temperature. Large stones are more likely to do this than small ones. Valuable stones have been destroyed in this way. To safeguard them some dealers place large diamonds in raw potatoes for safe transport from South Africa.

DON'T STARVE YOURSELF

GIVE YOUR STOMACH A GOOD EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION.

STOPS ALL FOOD FERMENTATION

Let Diapepsin Digest Your Meals Until Your Stomach Gets Strong—Eat Your Favorite Foods Without Feeling Miserable Afterwards.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep a case of Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why they cure indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn and prevent at once such miseries as belching of gas, eructations of sour undigested food, nausea, headaches, dizziness, constipation and other stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion with the common every day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of nervousness, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach or cancer.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, gas and stomach poison, which will putrefy in the entire digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

One candy-like Triangule, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

HE ONCE LIVED IN SEDALIA

Now He Is Superintendent of a Railway in Mexico.

Frank R. Hulland Saturday received a letter from Harvey L. Newton, a former member of the old Sedalia baseball team, when Mr. Hulland and "Bob" Rose were the pitchers, portions of which missive are given below:

"We are having splendid weather here now—sunshine and flowers, all kinds of garden fruit, oranges, one cent each, and they grow right in my yard; bananas; the game hunting season on in full bloom and one can get all kinds of game.

"I trust our old friend 'Bob' has by this time entirely recovered from the rheumatism. Give my regards to Tim and 'Dutch Henry,' and remember if any of you should strav away from Sedalia far enough to reach this country we will show you what a real live sport is."

Mr. Newton is now superintendent of a Mexican railway, with headquarters at Monterey.

Saved Continental Army.

A striking illustration of the chances of war is found in the fact that the American army at Cambridge during the war of the revolution would have been left without ammunition but for the provision of John Brown, a merchant of Providence, R. I., and one of the family who gave name to the university at the place. Brown was a very wealthy merchant and was the first of the Rhode Island merchants to send his ships to China and the East Indies. Anticipating the war, he instructed his captains on the return voyage to load their ships with powder, which he furnished to the army when its supply had been restricted to less than four rounds to each man.

Preserving Fish in Paper.

Some interesting experiments in connection with the carriage of fish were recently made by M. Alfred Goldes, president of the fishery section of the Brussels chamber of commerce. Soles caught by Ostend boats off the Portuguese coast were packed in a special vegetable paper, and after 16 days appeared in much better condition, as regards both freshness and flavor, than those packed in ice. This paper was recommended at the Ostend fishery congress of 1907 by Herr Solling, inspector of Danish fisheries. It costs little and takes up but small space.—Harper's Weekly.

Animal Sympathy.

Immediately in front of my house is a small paddock, in which there have been feeding a pony and four sows. In a tiny clump of grass and buttercups there is a willow wren's nest filled with young. Though all the grass around is closely cropped, this clump remains absolutely untouched. Am I wrong in believing that birds have some system of communicating their whereabouts, and that the larger animals show consideration and care for the weak and helpless we, too often, despise and set at naught?—Country Life.

Copying an English Law.

Largely owing to the indefatigable efforts of Maj. Boudren of that city, the board of education of Bridgeport, Conn., has adopted what in England is known as the "Conscience Objectors' Act." Henceforth any parent who has a prejudice against vaccination may obtain the admission of his children to the public schools without submitting them to vaccination by merely notifying the superintendent of his scruples in writing.

Luxury.

Stranger (in Drearyhurst)—Is there a place here where I can get a square meal?

Uncle Welby Gosh—Yes, sir; there's a restur'nt 'round the cawner where you can git the best meal this side o' Chicago if you don't mind its bein' a leetle expensive. They'll sock you fur 35 cents, but, by gum! it's wuth it!

The Modern Way.

In fervid, passionate terms he told her he loved her.

She listened with haughty air.

"I must have a man not of words but of deeds," she said.

So next day he brought her his deeds, so her father's lawyer could examine their titles.

Grammar His Forte.

A Kansas school ma'am had a world of trouble in teaching one of her charges the intricacies of arithmetic. The job finally became so arduous that she complained to the child's father.

"Oh," said the fond pater, "never mind my Jimmie about that. He comes by it honestly. I always was a good grammatist, but a mighty poor arithmeticker."

Too Much of It.

Chauffeurs are ticklish things, and the millionaire would proceed cautiously.

"But," he said to the applicant, "have you had much experience?"

The ruddy young man laughed loud. "Experience!" he cried. "Experience! Why, I've held down 17 different jobs in the last nine months."

Then Some One Would.

MADE ESCAPE WITH $6,000

Attica, Ohio, Citizens Held at Bay While Safe Is Cracked.

Attica, Ohio, Nov. 21.—Robbers held several citizens at bay early yesterday while they blew open and robbed the safe of Renninger & Silcox of $6,000 in cash.

The robbers were discovered while at work upon the safe. Help was called and citizens surrounded the building, but the safecrackers would not leave. One robber held the crowd back with a revolver in front of the store, a second did likewise at the rear door, while the third continued to work at the safe.

When the safe was opened and the money obtained, the robbers made a dash for the street, still leveling their revolvers at the crowd outside. A few shots were exchanged, but nobody was injured. The robbers escaped with a stolen horse and buggy. A posse is pursuing them.

Explanations By My Eye Specialist

The term hypermetropia is that condition of the eye in which its refracting power is too low or the optic axis is too short so that rays which fall parallel upon the eye are not brought to a focus upon the retina, when the eye is in a state of rest as occurs in the normal eye, but more or less behind it, according to the amount ofhypermetropia present. This trouble can be overcome by the use of properly fitted glasses.

Went to Wisconsin to Investigate.

The writer of this article has made personal investigations and can vouch for the following:

During a trip to Wisconsin and by reason of his vacation visiting the Sanitorium at Waukesha, he was attracted by a conversation between a nurse and a patient, who apparently was all packed up ready to leave. The nurse was trying to persuade him to try Muco-Solvent for a bad case of quinsy sore throat, and the patient, after some persuasion, consented, with the result that to the writer's personal knowledge the patient prolonged his stay and went away cured, not neglecting, however, to take a dozen packages with him. Further inquiry developed the fact that in the towns of Madison and Grantsburg, all in Wisconsin, Muco-Solvent had most effectually stamped out the diphtheria plague. In Gransburg, for instance, out of its 350 people, diphtheria claimed as its victims 53 people. Muco-Solvent was then employed and not another death took place.

At Polar, Wis., whole families died; recoveries were rare exceptions. The use of Muco-Solvent immediately put an end to the fatalities. In the lumber camps of the north, they would as soon think of being without Muco-Solvent as food or water. It is used by them for all acute throat troubles—quinsy, scarlet fever, tonsilitis, etc., and as an antiseptic in the camps.

The discovery that common Epsom Salts was the most powerful anesthetic (made by a member of the Rockefeller Institute), and that the most dangerous operation could be performed with its assistance, comes close upon the heels of the discovery of the startling fact that ordinary Muco-Solvent is tremendously effective as a remedial agent for maladies and disturbances for which at first it was not used. And what is more, that the public can have access to it without the physician's aid. Unquestionably as a preventive for diphtheria, scarlet fever, croup or whooping cough, quinsy, sore throat, its supremacy will not be questioned, and now comes the startling discovery that it is equally effective for all catarrhal conditions—catarrh of the stomach, head, intestines—as a very effective douche for uterine difficulties, as a mouth wash or spray preventive of typhoid, measles, etc., for cuts or burns, sores or skin diseases of most character (not the dry form of eczema, however).

If a thing is good, it doesn't always requie much advertising, as we understand druggists are supplying themselves with it generally throughout the United States, as well as Canada and Australia. We believe the time is not far when the use of it will exterminate completely diphtheria, croup, etc. It can be obtained of Dan Wilcox, so mothers who lose children from croup, etc., have only themselves to blame for their neglect if they do not keep it on hand.

MONTROSE MILL BURNED

Nothing Is Known as to How the Blaze Originated.

The Montrose Roller Mills were destroyed by fire on Friday morning at 1:30 o'clock, together with a large quantity of flour and 2,000 bushels of wheat.

The origin of the fire is unknown. When the flames were discovered they had made such headway that nothing could be done to save the structure.

The loss is a heavy one. The mill was owned by Mrs. Eleanor Shaub, and was worth from $15,000 to $20,000, with insurance of only $2,000. It was leased by the Bean Milling Co., and as they had been running the mills steadily for three days, an unusually large stock of flour was on hand. Their loss will be about $5,000 with insurance of $3,000.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

The conditions and causes which produce Rheumatism all suggest a healthful vegetable remedy as the surest and safest cure. The disease is brought about by the accumulation of uric acid, an irritating, pain-producing property in the blood. This causes a weakening and souring of the circulation which then becomes unfit for nourishing the body, while the deposits of uric acid in the nerves, muscles, joints and bones produce the pain and agony of Rheumatism. To treat the trouble with medicines containing potash or other strong minerals, is simply adding another poison to the already weak, diseased blood, sapping it of its remaining vitality, and perhaps in the end making a physical wreck of the sufferer. The one safe and only cure for Rheumatism is S. S. S. It is nature's remedy for this disease, made entirely from healthful vegetable ingredients extracted from the roots, herbs and barks of the forest and fields. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and removes every trace of the cause of Rheumatism, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and restores health and comfort to those who are suffering from this painful disease. There is but one way to be sure you are not dosing your system with mineral medicines, and that is to take S. S. S. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free.

PUT ON HOLIDAY ATTIRE

CELEBRATION OF THE BI-CENTENNIAL OF EXISTENCE OF ANNAPOLIS.

CHARTER GRANTED NOV. 22, 1708

Thanksgiving Service at St. Anne's Church Today — Spectacular Features on Monday and Tuesday.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 21.—Annapolis today assumed her holiday attire in preparation for the celebration tomorrow of the bi-centennial of the town's corporate existence. The charter for Annapolis was granted by Queen Anne on November 22, 1708, just 200 years ago tomorrow, and the anniversary will be observed in a fitting manner. A preliminary program was carried out today at the historic state house, and a football game between the Annapolis naval academy and the Virgina Polytechnic institute served to amuse the visitors who are already invading the town from all over Maryland and surrounding states. The most spectacular features of the bicentennary program will be carried out Monday and Tuesday.

Tomorrow, which is the exact anniversary of the founding of Annapolis, will have as a feature a municipal thanksgiving service at St .Anne's, the historic church of Annapolis, and special services in all churches. There will be a parade, an essential appendage to any celebration, and the formal dedication of a conspicuous public square as the site of an emblematic memorial to a great American principle that had its inception among Maryland colonists—religious tolerance.

Marvland's happy example inspired defenders of freedom of conscience everywhere until it became a cardinal belief of the patriots who achieved the national independence of the United States. The inception and fruition of this idea—religious toleration—Annapolitans believe, is worthy of commemoration by the erection of a handsome monument as part of the celebration.

The monument contemplated is one that will show figures representative of a Catholic, a Church of England man and a Puritan in fraternal grouping with Cecilius Calvert, whom Lord Baltimore recognized as the founder of Maryland and upholder of religious toleration, if not the originator thereof as an American principle. In connection with the monument there will be a fountain, and for this fountain the municipality will supply water from an artesian well.

The old Maryland state house, the scene of today's exercises, is famous in many respects, but its chief attraction to visitors is the old senate chamber, where General George Washington resigned his commission as commander in chief of the Continental army. This has been restored recently, so that it appears just as it did in 1783, when twenty members of the Continental congress assembled and General Mifflin, the president, accepted the resignation of the man who was afterwards to become the first president of the United States. The old senate chamber is now reserved as a historical museum. The legislature now meets in palatial new chambers in the addition to the state house—an additon which harmonizes with the older part of the building, which impressed one of Rochambeau's officers as "the finest structure I have seen in the country." The front of the old building, the corner stone for which was laid in 1772, and two sides are unaltered. The present state house was built with an appropriation made as far back as 1769, replacing a structure that did not measure up to the artistic ideas of the Maryland gentlemen who had made Annapolis what it was in the eighteenth century.

St. Anne's church, where tomorrow's thanksgiving services will be held, is one of the landmarks of the town. The first church was built in 1799, but the present beautiful edifice was completed in 1859.

The statehouse and the church as links with the more remote history of the town will be accorded their due local prominence in the celebration. The school, St. John's college, which is a third link between the twentieth century and the days of Queen Anne, will have a more modest share. Its fine body of cadets will participate in the parade, and its esteemed president, Dr. Thomas Fell, is a member of the bicentennial association, but it will require no special exercise to center interest in an educational institution which was an outgrowth of the first public school established on the North American continent.

As King William's school, St. John's college was founded in 1696, but not opened until 1704. Consisting now of a group of fine but not pretentious buildings, harmonious in architecture, with the so-called Colonial style predominant, reposefully aligned in a packed area, it forms a picture suggesting sedate age, but not such age as is inconsistent with sturdiness. St. John's is a venerable institution, but it has more than age to give it renown. Today it is a college that ranks high in educational circles and one that affords to young men military training that has the warm commendation of the war department. Moreover within the past few years it has taken its place as a part of the University of Maryland.

It is the weak nerves that are crying out for help. Then help them don't drug the stomach or stimulate the heart or kidneys. That is wrong. Vitalize these weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how fast good health will come to you again. Test it and see. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug store.

BRIEF POPULARITY FOR ROSES.

Favorites of Other Days That Are Now Seldom Seen.

What becomes of the former favorites of the rose tribe? Each has had its day and has reigned right royally in its particular period, says the New York Press. All old New Yorkers must have soft spots in their hearts for the jacqueminot. For many years it was the most popular blossom among rich and poor. A quarter of a century ago the street venders sold hardly anything except the gorgeous red "Jack" roses and the most fashionable florist had to be extremely cautious in trying to push another variety ahead of it. Then came the American beauty, which had a long sway. Bride roses followed in the affections of the people, more on account of their association than because of superior beauty. Long before the brides and American beauties and "Jacks" there flourished the Marechal Niel, always the subject of controversy as to whether it was a tea rose or a noisette.

Of a more beautiful yellow than the flower named for the famous marshal of France was the cloth of gold rose. As its name implied, it was a rich golden color. Fully as handsome as the general jacqueminot, the original name of the "Jack" was the baronne prevost. Another gorgeous rose was the giant of battles. Among the climbers were the queen of the prairie, the Baltimore belle and the ayrshire. A flower loved for its perpetual blossoming was the souvenir de malmaison, finest of the Bourbon roses. The Bengal was another perpetual and an attractive bloom. Even the gigantic cabbage rose, though it became the fashion to laugh at it, had its share of popularity for awhile. Where are the roses of yesteryear?

SPOILED THEIR LITTLE GAME.

Trickster's Slip That Put an End to Negotiations.

Mayor Speer of Denver was talking the other day about a pair of political tricksters.

"They gave themselves away," he said. "Don't tricksters always give themselves away? It reminds me of the two men who wanted to sell their corpses for dissection. These two men, miserably clad, called on the dean of a medical college in New York.

"'We are both on the verge of starvation, sir,' the spokesman said. 'We are well on in years, and it is clear that we haven't much longer to live. Would you care to purchase our bodies for your dissecting-room?'

"The dean hesitated.

"'It is an odd proposition,' he muttered.

"'But it is occasionally done,' said the spokesman in an eager voice.

"'Well,' said the dean, 'we might arrange it. What price do you ask?'

"'Over in Philadelphia,' said the spokesman, 'they gave us $40.'"

SECRET DIVULGED BY PARROT.

Servants in Nights of Merriment Had Forgotten Bird.

The late George Winthrop Sands passed last winter at St. Moritz. This robust and handsome youth, with his modest and pleasant air, was a great favorite with the distinguished band of curlers, bob-sleighers and skiers who frequent the sunny, snow-covered village of the Engadine.

There was a ball on Christmas night at the Kulm hotel, and Mr. Sands, who entertained George Cornwallis-West at his table during the ball supper, told as a bottle of champagne was being opened, a parrot story.

"I once had a parrot," he said. "It was a gray African bird, an excellent talker. I went away for a month with my family, and of course the parrot remained behind with the servants.

"Well, on my return I found that the parrot had learned a new speech. Every evening, at intervals of 15 minutes or so, it would repeat:

"Ha, ha, ha! Let's have another bottle. There's no one here to know. Plop! Gurgle-gurgle-gurgle!'"

CHICAGO NEWS LETTER

AS THANKSGIVING BOBS UP WE ARE TOLD THE "TURKEY CROP IS SHORT."

THIS IS GETTING TO BE A CHESTNUT

City to Get $700,000 Income Tax From the Saloons This Year, While the Dog Tax Will Aggregate $128,000.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Again the turkey crop is short, "alarmingly short," as it is just prior to Thanksgiving day each year in justification of the prices charged. As Chicago consumes 750,000 pounds of turkey, in addition to half a million pounds of other poultry at Thanksgiving time, the "shortage" cost this city alone a pretty sum, in the neighborhood of $125,000.

Last year turkey prices soared like the wise old gobblers that took to roosting high just prior to the festivities, the advance coming about the time the housewives began buying in earnest. Curiously enough, the severity of the annual "shortage" of turkeys, cranberries, pumpkins and oysters are simultaneous— all are short together at the crucial time. Everything that is handled in South Water street gets "scarce" in the retail markets and the scarcity is traced to the commission merchants, whose consignors hear only of a glut in the Chicago markets.

Last year the commission merchants blamed the farmers and poultry shippers, the poultry shippers pointed an accusing finger at South Water street, where practically the produce of the city in wholesale lots is handled, and the retailer puts the blame there also, pleading innocence of extortion himself.

Turkeys went up to 25 cents a pound last year, cranberries to 12½ cents the quart, pumpkins to 20 cents each and oysters to 40 cents, as against 12 cents for turkeys, 7 cents for cranberries, 15 cents for pumpkins and 25 cents for oysters.

This year the turkey scare has a new wrinkle, appendicitis having developed, and, of course, the crop is effected. Chicago's Thanksgiving dinner this year will cost about $2,500,000, not at prevailing prices, but at the shortage prices that will prevail.

State or federal regulation of timber cutting on lands in private ownership is a new departure in the way of government regulation which may be effected this winter, say lumbermen in this city, as a result of the disastrous forest fires which have made this season historic in the annals of the lumber industry.

Timber owners here and throughout the lake and northwestern states, who have begun to figure up the cost of the fires, have come to the conclusion that something more radical must be done than establishing scattered fire patrols.

That this something will be regulation by the states or federal governments, which will not only insure a greater protection from fire, but will also protect the soil from erosion and the streams from floods and droughts, is indicated by the publication in one of the leading lumber journals of an opinion of Judge J. W. Judd, of the law department of Vanderbilt University, and formerly attorney for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., on the power of the government to control timber cutting on private lands.

In this opinion Judge Judd traces the development of the powers of the federal government under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution and of the several states under their right of police power, and reaches the following conclusions:

"The federal government has the power to regulate the use of the forests of the great watersheds of the country, forming the source of the navigable waters, when such regulation has a direct connection with, and is necessary, in the opinion of congress, to the preservation of their navigability.

"The states, acting singly or in compact, with the consent of congress, can regulate the use of the forests within their limits, when such regulation is necessary to preserve the soil of the land; to provide food and water for the people; to preserve the health and comfort of the people; or to protect commerce by preserving the navigable streams."

In support of these views, he cites a number of recent decisions, notably one by the supreme court of Maine, in which it upheld the right of the state to restrict destructive lumbering in the interest of the general welfare. This is substantially the position taken by the supporters of the Appalachian bill at the last session of congress. That the lumbermen who have hitherto usually fought such legislation, should be falling into line is considered significant.

The first results of the big business revival have already begun to make themselves felt in an increased demand for money, declare Chicago bankers.

"At present the volume of free money in the banks is the largest in the history of the coutnry," said W. T. Fenton, vice president of the National Bank of the Republic, "but there are marked evidences of improved sentiment among merchants and manufacturers, and that feeling is already developing fresh demands for funds.

"Our banks will encourage the activity so far as it is warranted, as we believe that better times are ahead. Since the election discount rates have advanced a full one-half of 1 per cent, and the supply of notes offered has been decidedly increased. Customers from now on will not be held under any restraint when they need money for sane purposes.

"Adjustment during the panic has worked out an extremely healthy condition in general business, and the country is starting fresh with small stocks of manufactured products, big crops, good prices and an abundance of cheap money."

Bank clearings show a gain and for the first time now the comparison of current clearings with those of 1907 gives a real indication of the progress towards recovery from last year's panic, as hitherto the comparison has been with weeks when prosperity was at high tide, before the financial storm broke.

A recent week showed a gain of $29,262,179 over the corresponding week of 1907, or a gain of almost $5,000,000 a day. If this rate of increase continues it will not be long before business will be on a permanent basis of prosperity again.

The most interesting result of the panic of 1907 now is shown in the reports of corporations as to the increase of the number of stockholding partners, particularly in the west and among women. Sixteen of the largest railroad and industrial corporations have reported 353,600 partners, as against 255,499 before the "bankers'" panic began.

Reports of the Hill railroads show 11,000 shareholders now, as compared with 2,800 a year ago. These figures throw light upon the process of the change that took place when the wires from the west were burdened with small lot buying orders at bargain prices.

The reports of the steel trust and the Pennsylvania railway show that 45 per cent of the shareholders now are women, the increase being 32 per cent in the case of the steel trust and 49 per cent in that of the Pennsylvania, which goes to show what a real "marked down" sale will do with women.

Before the panic the shareholders of the United States Steel corporation numbered 83,000; they number over 130,000 now. The Pennsylvania has 60,000 shareholders and the Santa Fe railway has reported 25,000. This tremendous change is to be attributed very largely to the west, where investments are being made in stocks and bonds much more than in former years, and where the Missouri spirit of "wanting to be shown" real values has increased in a marked degree since western speculation was checked in 1901.

Over $7,000,000 of Chicago's income this year will come from saloons, which make the item of dog tax look sick, only $128,000. The increased cost of license from $500 a year to $1,000 did drive about 1,000 drink emporiums out of business, but made an enormous increase in the city's revenues.

The taxes on the two billions of assessable property brought in a revenue of only $4,561,453 last year, so the saloon business looms up as the city's biggest producer, with revenues from the traction business, under Chicago's prize solution of municipal control of public utilities coming next, at over $1,000,000 a year.

The city had 8,007 saloons in 1905, and the revenues therefrom were only $4,000,400, so the decrease of 1,600 in the number of licenses as a result of higher cost was much more than offset. It is said that the number of women running saloons has not been affected by the price set on their licenses. The process of elimination has been gradual, the number being reduced from 8,007 saloons to 7,353 at the outset, to 7,237 after they had six months more of the license increase, to still fewer each six months since then.

The police department costs the city $5,610,845, the house of correction $275,252 and the municipal courts $807,687 a year. With these figures friend and foes of prohibition can both prove their contentions.

The old Chicago city hall is about demolished and work will at once commence on the new $4,000,000 structure, which will be one of the largest and best equipped municipal buildings in the country.

The wrecking gang will give way to the constructing gang, and the passerby will cease to squint at flying rock dust and plaster and will look on wonderingly as the great steel skeleton rears itself above the street; 11,000 tons of it, later to be clothed with 14,000 tons of granite, 33,000 tons of concrete and 6,000,000 bricks.

One can imagine a train of more than 2,500 cars, eighteen miles long, creeping slowly forward as this mass of steel and stone is unloaded and put in place. Two years will pass before the train is all unloaded.

Close beside it and occupying the rest of the block is set the court house, lately completed; and when the city hall is finished and the twin structures, towering thirteen stories above the street, are locked together with bands of steel and concrete, there are none who doubt that they will present such an appearance and will offer such facilities for conducting the business of local government as to justify the cost—over $8,000,000.

Though a complement of the county building, the city hall will cover 1,700 more square feet, will consume 1,000 more tons of steel, and will include 350,000 more cubic feet. The great columns of the colonnade, nine feet in diameter, and nearly 100 feet long, are the largest columns of any colonnade in the world.

There will be fourteen elevators, more than a mile of corridors and nearly fifteen acres of floor space. This, with the county building, means the crowding of nearly thirty acres of floor space in a city block. Pneumatic tubes are to cobwed the building.

GOOD, HONEST, SQUARE-DEAL

Medicines like those of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, warrant their makers in printing their every ingredient, which they do, upon their outside wrappers, verifying the correctness of the same under oath. This open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves. Furthermore, it warrants physicians in prescribing them largely as they do in their worst cases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach and bowels, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), liver, bowels (as mucous diarrhea), or other organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is advised for the cure of one class of diseases only—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities peculiar to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine.

For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American, medicinal, forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum. Don't do it.

BOTH MEN CLAIM TO BE ELECTED

Gmelich, Republican, Says He Has a Plurality of 30, While Painter, Democrat, Claims a Plurality of 35 Votes.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 21.—There will be a contest over the office of lieutenant governor. According to the precinct returns, as certified by Secretary of State Sawnger, Gmelich, republican, has a plurality of 30 over Painter, democrat.

The latter, however, alleges errors in the returns as certified, and claims his election by a plurality of 35.

Here are the figures, as certified by Mr. Swanger from the precinct totals:

*President—Taft (Rep.), 346,915; Bryan (Dem.), 345,889. Taft's plurality, 1,026.

Governor—Hadley (Rep.), 355,932; Cowherd (Dem.), 340,053. Hadley's plurality, 15,879.

Lieutenant Governor — Gmelich (Rep.), 347,615; Painter (Dem.), 347,585. Gmelich's plurality, 30.

Secretary of State—Roach (Dem.), 348,157; Swanger (Rep.), 347,531. Roach's plurality, 626.

Attorney General—Major (Dem.), 349,094; Fulkerson, (Rep.), 347,443. Major's plurality, 1,651.

State Auditor—Gordon (Dem.), 349,529; Tollerton (Rep.), 346,503. Gordon's plurality, 2,826.

State Treasurer—Cowgill (Dem.), 349,485; Maring (Rep.), 346,373. Cowgill's plurality, 3,112.

Railroad Commissioner — Knott (Dem.), 348,958; Wilder (Rep.), 346,994. Knott's plurality, 1,964.

Judge Supreme Court — Graves (Dem.), 349,316; Cox (Rep.), 346,327. Graves' plurality, 2,989.

*Tabulation on first elector only.

Mr. Painter gave out the following statement last night:

"The table given out tonight by Mr. Swanger is incomplete and contains the incorrect vote of Audrain, Charlton, Dunklin, Lincoln, Linn, Webster and Worth. The correct figures from these counties wipe out the apparent plurality of 30 for Mr Gmelich and give me a net plurality of 35.

"These corrected returns give me a gain of 5 in Audrain, 6 in Charlton, 20 in Dunklin, 6 in Lincoln, 10 in Linn, 3 in Webster and 5 in Worth These corrected and certified returns are on file in Mr. Swanger's office.

"Upon the complete and correct vote as certified to him I have been elected lieutenant governor of Missouri by a plurality of 35.—William R. Painter."

Senator W. J. Stone is quoted in a St. Louis newspaper, the Globe-Democrat, a republican organ, as advising against a contest for lieutenant governor, as follows:

"Why should either of them contest?" declared Stone. "There has been no evidence of fraud offered. If Gmelich has a plurality of 1 vote he should be seated, and if Painter has a plurality of 1 he should get the office."

A COMMON ERROR

The Same Mistake Is Made by Many Sedalia People.

It's a common error.
To plaster the aching back.
To rub with liniments rheumatic joints,
When the trouble comes from the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills,
And are endorsed by Sedalia citizens.

J. M. Logan, 616 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I suffered from lumbago for a long time. I had such severe pains in my back that I could hardly get about. I used a number of remedies, also plasters, but nothing benefited me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Bard's drug store. Two boxes of this remedy banished my trouble and I gladly recommend it." (Statement given March, 1906.)

Mrs. Logan, in October, 1908, confirms the above statement by saying: "My husband is still in good health and has had no return of his former trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Fought Fourteen Mules.

Sam Arnold, the Sedalia mule buyer, was here Wednesday, says the Green Ridge Local News, and purchased fourteen head of the long-eared fellows. He got eight of them of William Ruffin; five of Mrs. Hollenbeck and one of Dr. Clabaugh. When you can't sell Samuel a mule, it is singular, because that man is everlastingly wanting mules, mules, mules.

MR. GOMPERS IS ANGRY

CHARGES AND COUNTER CHARGES FLY THICK AT A. F. OF L. CONVENTION.

THE SOCIALIST ARE BADLY FLAYED

Debs, Barnes and Hayes Accused of Throwing Odium on Labor Movement—Red Hot Session Held Friday.

Denver, Nov. 21.—The American Federation of Labor convention yesterday was again torn with dissensions, and charges and counter charges flew thick and fast between President Gompers and the leaders of the socialist element, Max Hays, of Cleveland, and J. Mahlon Barnes, of Chicago.

The heated debate was brought about by the report of the committee on the president's report, which recommended that the Federationist be indorsed as the official organ.

Delegate Barnes opposed the recommendation and bitterly attacked Gompers, claiming that he as editor of the Federationist, has charged the socialist party with having accepted money for the famous "Red Special" of Debs from the republican party.

Barnes wanted a committee to go to Chicago and audit the books of the socialist party to ascertain the truth or falsity of the charges. Christian Kerner, of the bakers and confectioners, another socialist, remarked:

"It seems to me that there are some inborn politicians who do not want to hear the truth."

Delegate J. C. Shaughnessy defended Gompers and criticised Debs and Hays for their policies.

President Gompers took the floor and resented the attacks on him. He charged Debs, Barnes and Hays with trying to throw odium on the labor movement and denied that he had made the charges that the funds for the "Red Special" had come from improper sources. He then remarked that he thought it was peculiar that a party in debt like the socialist should hire a train at a cost of $23,000 to do campaign work.

Gompers charged Hays with having put into the Cleveland Citizen the most unjust labor sentiments ever put into print. He charged Debs with having given printing contracts to "scab" shops, and Hays with having failed to protest against it after an officer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen had been told to get out of Debs' office when he complained of the contracts with the non-union firm. Gompers concluded:

"I have no ill will against Debs personally, but I can not allow a man to stand up as an apostle of labor and at the same time stab to the very vitals trade unionism by the advocacy of such an institution as the Industrial Workers of the World."

That part of the committee's report which recommended that members of the executive council who do not agree with the council's political policy should resign was adopted. This is considered as a direct slap at Dan K. Keefe, of the Longshoremen, who came out for Taft.

To those afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble, backache, rheumatism, Pineules for the Kidneys brings relief in the first dose. Hundreds of people today testify to their remarkable healing and tonic properties. 30 days' trial $1. They purify the blood. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Will Be No Reduction in Wages.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 21.—The Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association announces that no reduction of wages will be made on December 17 as anticipated.

The announcement benefits 25,000 operatives of this city directly and thousands of others in nearby textile centers indirectly.

WILL ERECT MONUMENT

To the Memory of Official Who Died "On Duty."

The grace of the late City Marshal James Ryan, of Warrensburg, is to be marked with a beautiful monument now being finished by C. H. Heynen, of the Heynen Monument Works. The monument is inscribed:

"James Ryan,
City Marshal,
Killed Easter Sunday,
April 19, 1908,
In the Performance of His Official Duties."

City Marshal Ryan was killed by Byron Hall, whom he attempted to arrest because of some difficulty he (Hall) had had on the train which brought him to Warrensburg.

A duel followed, in which Ryan, assisted by Night Marshal Basham and Robert Pollock, participated. Ryan and Basham were killed by Hall before he fell mortally wounded. The duel was fought in a Warrensburg hotel.

The monument will be ready to ship to Warrensburg in a few days.

No Pardon for Louis Gebhart.

Governor Folk has decided not to issue a pardon to Louis Gebhart, of Lohman, Cole county, who is serving a term in the penitentiary for robbing a church.

A number of Lohman people petitioned for the pardon, as did also a number of Jefferson City people, but the governor's office was informed that Gebhart had made some threats against certain people at Lohman and the pardon was refused.

Minister Called to Boonville.

Christ Episcopal church of Boonville has extended a call to Rev. S. C. Walton, of Mendon, Ill., which he will probably accept.

Every young man should find out if there is work in the navy he enjoys doing. If he is industrious and efficient, promotion will follow with increased pay.

Navy life is interesting. The vessels of the fleet furnish a great variety of employment. The incentive to get ahead, to become smart, quick and practical, is attracting thousands of young men to the service. The opportunities to master a trade appeals to all ambitious young men. The chance to see something of the world and at the same time to save money, does not come to the average young man in civil life.

When a man is up to the navy standard of efficiency he can hold his own in life outside the navy. The navy needs mechanics as well as seamen—electricians, machinists, firemen, carpenters, stenographers, bookkeepers, good cooks, bakers, waiters, musicians, and men for the Hospital corps.

The government will train you at its own expense in one of its technical classes. Your pay begins the day you enter. The work is intended to prepare you in a short time for transfer to sea duty.

The quickest way to find out about pay, chances to save and the requirements for enlistment, is to go to the Navy Recruiting Station at Postoffice building, Kansas City, Mo. If living at a distance write the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

LAW IN ITALY MOVES SLOWLY.

Man Thirty-Eight Years in House of Detention Without Trial.

Two little boys in Rome were carrying their father's pistol to the gunsmith's to be mended. They quarreled and the pistol was not so much out of order as to keep Pietro, aged 11, from shooting Paola, aged eight.

The little fratricide was at once arrested, the magistrate committing him to prison while they prepared to deal with the case. Unfortunately for Pietro, the day on which he shot his brother was September 18, 1870. On that day Gen. Bixio began his march toward Rome and two days later he entered the city.

The papal magistrates had ample excuse for forgetting Pietro, and Pietro was forgotten for about six months, when the newly appointed functionaries took up his case. So deliberately did they take it up that it was not until 1882 that all the material for the prosecution had been completed.

Then the abolition of the death penalty in Italy caused a fresh delay. Three specialists were appointed to inquire into Pietro's state of mind, and they disagreed, causing the affair to be shelved indefinitely. There is no one now who remembers at first hand the incidents of the crime

Pietro is 49, having spent 38 years in the house of detention, and once more efforts are to be made to bring him finally to trial.

WHICH do you want?

Are you looking for a pony for the little ones, or a pet dog or some nice pigeons. Or maybe you would like some chickens to insure fresh eggs for your breakfast.

No matter which it is, if you want any or all of these, there's an easy way to get them.

Just turn to the want pages of the Democrat-Sentinel. There are people who are almost daily advertising in the Democrat-Sentinel to sell what they have, or exchange it for something else they need

For instance: John Smith must leave town in a hurry. He seeks a buyer for his horse, or poultry, or dog, or cow by advertising in the Democrat-Sentinel. Evans Brown who is going into the dry goods business needs some ready cash to start on. He will sell his automobile cheap, or his summer cottage at a sacrifice.

You can never realize the profit these little daily Want Ads will yield, nor the volume of business they represent until you have carefully read and investigated them. Start reading Democrat-Sentinel Want Ads today. Profits will accumulate quickly if you are systematic and read them every day.

RESULT OF CHARITABLE ACT.

Indiana Man Suffers Through Extending the Helping Hand.

Joseph H. Barr of Bruceville, member of the Republican state committee from the Second district, comes to Indianapolis often. Committeeman Barr is sober and industrious and a farmer.

While in Indianapolis Mr. Barr was telling his friends of the most embarrassing experience he ever had. It happened on account of his good nature and a willingness to do a kind act for a friend.

One night Mr. Barr ran across a neighbor who had been out with "the boys." The neighbor was feeling most jubilant and Barr decided that he ought to take him home.

The committeeman found he had a job on his hands, and it was very late when he arrived with his neighbor at the latter's door.

"Where in the world have you been?" demanded the neighbor's wife as he made his way upstairs.

"Well, you see, my dear," said the neighbor, unsteadily, "I have spent two hours taking Joe Barr home."

"It was but a few hours," said Barr, "until my family heard that I had to be taken home. I've been ever since trying to straighten that out with my wife. You see what an innocent man gets by doing a charitable act." —Indianapolis Star.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Christian church on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Setzer, of the Baptist church, will deliver the address, and an offering will be taken for the benefit of the city's worthy poor.

The recital given by the piano pupils of Miss Eva Frances Tisdale in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening was a treat to all who appreciate good music. The pupils were assisted by Miss Myrtle Smith, soprano, and Mr. Waldo Andrew, violinist. Each number was well selected and its rendition showed thorough preparation. In addition to her musical ability, Miss Tisdale possesses a charming personality and is one of Sweet Springs' most popular girls. The proceeds of the entertainment will go towards establishing a fund for a new church organ.

Miss Elizabeth Goggin was hostess to the Whist club and a few invited guests at the beautiful home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Goggin, on South Bridge street, Thursday afternoon. Miss Goggin is one of the most charming members of this popular social organization, and has many delightful functions to her credit. On this occasion three tables participated. Mrs. Ed Berry scoring highest, was awarded the prize, a deck of beautifully embossed cards. The young hostess, with the help of her mother, served a dainty lunch, which concluded one of the season's most enjoyable entertainments.

The High school auditorium was packed to its capacity Friday evening by the friends of the young ladies and gentlemen who participated in the gold medal contest. In addition to the medal, the winner in each class is to have the honor of representing Saline county at the West Central Teachers' association in Higginsville Nov. 27. The program was interesting throughout and much credit is due Prof. J. C. Winders and his first assistant, Miss Shackleford, for the capable maner in which the entertainment was conducted. Mrs. E. B. Quisenberry, one of Sedala's prominent vocalists, gave a number of selections that delighted the audience. Misses Gem Binkley and Eva Tisdale, two of the city's talented teachers of piano, contributed much to the evening's entertainment. The piano duet, "Love's Awakening," by Misses Anna Davis and Iola Harwood, showed them to be possessed of unusual musical ability. Mrs. Porter and Miss Bradley, of Sedalia, accompanists for Mrs. Quisenberry, are each artists in their particular line. The contest was arranged in two parts, the eight young ladies rendering their selections first, followed by the seven young gentlemen in the second part. All acquitted themselves admirably. A committee composed of Dr. Gordon, of Central college, Mr. E. B. Quisenberry and Miss Helen Norton, of Sedalia, gave the first prize to Miss Adelle Reavis, and the second to Miss Mary D. Wilson in the first class. In the second class, Mr. Houston Elsner was given first prize, and Mr. Ewell Nightwine second. Sweet Springs is justly proud of its public schools and the excellent corps of teachers in charge, as is evidenced by the support given them in every matter connected with the school.

R. D. VanDyke died at his home in this city Saturday, Nov. 14 ,after a lingering illness, having passed his 80th milestone. Mr. Van Dyke was a native of Alabama, but came to Missouri in 1851. He was one of the town's pioneers, having resided here continuously since 1874. While his health permitted he was prominent in the city's business and social affairs and held many offices within the gift of the people. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and an honored member of the Masonic order. Funeral services were held at the house Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. C. Shackleford, after which the lodge members assumed charge and conducted the burial service. The deceased is survived by four daughters and three sons, all being present, with the exception of one son and one daughter. Burial was in Fairview cemetery.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, ofttimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

Central Business College Items.

A number of pupils have taken positions, some in Texas, some in Chicago, some in Omaha and some in Kansas City, the past week. Central Business college has had a large enrollment of new pupils and is too busy at this writing to give every item. We will write more extensively regarding our school next week. Many improvements have been going on the past week.

The Ceneral Business college literary society at its regular closed sessions is almost as large as open sessions usually are, such extensive interest is manifested in this department of the school.

Several pupils have left the telegraph department of Central Business college the past week to accept good positions. This department is quite full and has the best course of instruction to be found in any telegraph school in the United States.
